NARRATIVE At approximately 1040 hours DIVYA SHAH came to the Hopkinton Police Headquarters to follow up with me regarding this incident. He wanted to see if charges were being taken out and then stated that VELLANKI hit his son with his car. [REDACTED] now remembered what had happened and said he was struck as he was going down the hill. DIVYA also said that he was upset that VELLANKI had brought [REDACTED] inside to take care of his wounds and wanted him charged for that.  I informed him that I would look into this incident further, but charges were unlikely based on the facts I previously gathered.  I then returned to 6 Walnut Way to speak with [REDACTED] and he said he was hit on the sidewalk as he was going down the hill. He said that he did not tum into the driveway, but was hit on the sidewalk. I cleared and returned to speak with VELLANKI who was at the Hopkinton Police Headquarters. He stated the following: [REDACTED] was playing with other kids in the neighborhood, including his son. They were ringing bells on other homes at the top of the hill and then rode their bikes down. He was exiting his driveway slowly and looked around for pedestrians. As his vehicle approached the sidewalk, [REDACTED] struck the back right of his vehicle. They know [REDACTED] and he plays with their son frequently, so they thought the right thing would be to take him inside and treats the cut on his face and then bring him home.  He also checked for video footage from his Tesla, but none was saved because the vehicle did not register it as an accident. Based on the facts gathered. No actions by VELLANKI were criminal and no charges will be pressed.  Respectfully submitted, Officer Robert Ekross #23
